Mohs Histotechnology Quality Assurance Training Initiative

Purpose

The Mohs Histotechnology Quality Assurance (MHQA) Training initiative is designed to provide slide-preparation training to Mohs histotechnicians whose employers recommend and approve such training.

Description of Program

Training sessions will be offered each year at the ASMH Annual Meeting. In addition, Mohs College members may also make arrangements to have personalized training for their Mohs histotechnician(s). It is the responsibility of the student seeking training to contact a Mohs Histotechnology Trainer and make arrangements for training. An MHQA Training Initiative Enrollment Form must then be completed and sent to the Mohs College along with payment. The standard tuition for training will be $500 for ASMH members and $750 for non-members. The amount of time spent for training will be left to the discretion of the participants; however, the Mohs College recommends an average duration of two days for each training session. Upon completion of training, the student will receive a certificate of participation from the Mohs College, and the MHQA Trainers and student will be required to fill out an assessment form to provide feedback to the College regarding the training experience. The students' practice is responsible for all costs incurred (travel, food, lodging, etc.) during training.

Application for Trainer Designations (How to apply to be a Trainer)

Mohs histotechnicians who are applying to be a trainer must obtain permission from their Mohs surgeons prior to applying. Applicants who are considered for trainer positions will be asked to submit slides from specific date(s) established by the Mohs Histotechnology Quality Assurance Committee. Slides will be reviewed and rated by the Committee or designates. Applicants may also send in slides from the requested date to the Mohs College staff office at 555 East Wells Street, Suite 1100, Milwaukee, WI 53202. Slides sent to the office will be mailed to reviewers and returned to the applicant.

Applicants will be notified by mail if their application and slide review have been found acceptable or not to perform as a trainer. Mohs histotechnicians who are accepted as trainers will receive a set of Training Guidelines that have been developed by the MHQA Committee.
